GLOBAL HEALTH SEMINAR SERIES 2026

The Office of Research and Graduate Studies Presents:

Sept. 24 12PM

Karen Kotloff, MD
University of Maryland

The Global Burden of Shigellosis

Oct. 22 3PM

Ellen Stromdahl, PhD
Defense Centers for Public Health–Aberdeen

Beyond Lyme: A Tick Primer for Healthcare Professionals

Nov. 19 12PM

Eleftherios Mylonakis, MD, PhD
Houston Methodist Research Institute

Antimicrobial Resistance as a Global Health Threat: Key Challenges, AI-Enabled Drug Discovery, and the Path to Clinical Impact

Dec. 17 3PM

Paige Cunningham, PhD
Cornell University

How Properties of Food Common in our Environment Influence Consumption and Obesity Risk

Hackensack Meridian School of Medicine

Join via Zoom link or QR code
CME credit available

GLOBAL HEALTH SEMINAR SERIES 2027

The Office of Research and Graduate Studies Presents:

Jan. 28 12PM

Shahid R. Aziz, DMD, MD
HUMC

Smile Bangladesh

Feb. 25 12PM

Maryanne Perrin, PhD
UNC Greensboro

Global Efforts to Advance Preterm Infant Nutrition

March 25 12PM

Fang Fang Zhang, PhD
Tufts University

The Inconvenient Truth About Ultra-Processed Foods: From Global Health Challenge to Policy Action

April 22 3PM

Jeremy Hua, MD, MPH
National Jewish Health

Unequal Exposure: The Changing Global Landscape of Occupational Lung Diseases

May 27 12PM

Carlos Gould, PhD
UCSD

Temperature Extremes Impact Mortality and Morbidity Differently

Hackensack Meridian
School of Medicine

Join via Zoom link or QR code
CME credit available